What is the Columbia Energy Storage Project?

The Columbia Energy Storage Project uses a new technology, designed by Energy Dome. The system's unique features will boost grid stability, improve resilience and deliver enough electricity to power approximately 18,000 Wisconsin homes for 10 hours on a single charge.

Is Columbia Energy Storage Project a forward-looking statement?

Similarly, statements that describe the Columbia Energy Storage Project and our clean energy vision are forward-looking statements. These forward-looking statements are subject to risks and uncertainties that could cause actual results to differ materially from those expressed in, or implied by, the statements.

Where will Alliant Energy's energy storage system be built?

Pending approval, crews will build the energy storage system south of Portage, Wisconsin, in the town of Pacific, near the current Columbia Energy Center. For more information on Alliant Energy's energy storage projects, visit alliantenergy.com/battery.

Why did Alliant Energy file a project application with the PSC?

Alliant Energy filed the project application with the PSC after securing a competitive cooperative agreement award from the U.S. Department of Energy's Office of Clean Energy Demonstrations.
